

BIOETHICS

FORUM 2006

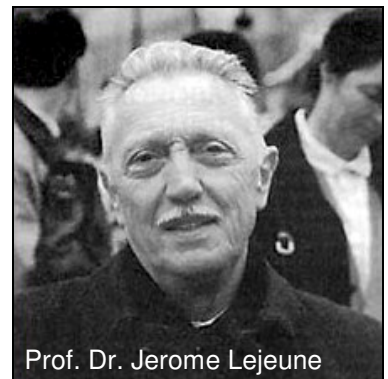

o n

The face of the human condition

January 19th, 2006:

Prenatal Testing: How genetic screening for diseases affects the future of the fetus.

- 5:45 Registration
6:00 Introduction.
Ignacio Segarra, Ph.D.
6:10 "Overview of prenatal diagnosis in current antenatal care"
Tan Lay Kok, MD.
6:35 "Postnatal outcome of fetuses with prenatal diagnoses"
Fabian Yap, MD.
7:00 Break
7:10 "Genetic testing of the unborn"
Alvin Wong, MD.
7:30 Open Forum Discussion
Moderator: Ignacio Segarra, Ph.D.
7:50 Adjourn

Prof. Dr. Jerome Lejeune

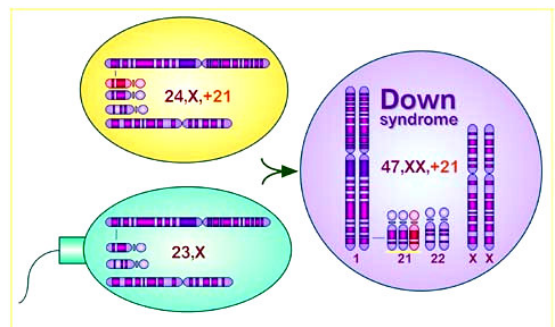

"Chromosomal racism is horrible, as are all forms of racism"
Prof. Jerome Lejeune (1926-1994).

About the Speakers

Dr. Tan Lay Kok is consultant obstetrician and gynaecologist at SGH-Dpt of Obs & Gynae and with interest in high risk obstetrics and disorders in pregnancy.

Dr. Fabian Yap is consultant paediatrician at the Dpt of Paediatrics-KKH with specialty in paediatrics endocrinology.

Dr. Alvin Wong is consultant oncologist at the Dpt of Hematology Oncology-NUH. He is a contributor to the Bioethics Advisory Committee Feedback on genetic testing.

Venue: Central Library
Theatrette 2 (4th Floor)
National University of Singapore

For further information contact: Ignacio Segarra at isegarra@hotmail.com